what the prices were for Permanent Waves before we came to Waterbury?

$10.00, $12.00, and even $20.00 were the prices you paid for Permanent Waves, before we came to Waterbury, in June, 1931. We came here at the instance of many women who patronized our shops in Hartford... and we introduced a service that had saved the public thousands and thousands of dollars on their beauty work. We were the originators of offering the highest type of work at prices that meant a saving of as much as 50%... and, incidentally, we compelled other shops to reduce their prices... we PROVED that a first class permanent could be obtained at a LOW price... and we have been proving this ever since. The price is for the public—first, last and all the time—and growing bigger and bigger every day.

THE WORLD'S WANDERERS

Tell me, thou star, whose wings of light Speed thee in fiery flight, In what cavern of the night Will thy pinions close now?

Tell me, moon, thou pale and gray Pilgrim of heaven's homeless way, In what depth of night or day Seekest thou repose now?

Weary wind, who wanderest Like the world's rejected guest Hast thou still some secret nest On the tree or billow?

—PERCY B. SHELLEY.

Cards have been received from Francis Allman, Jr., one of the Democrat's well known newsmen. He is spending two weeks in Chicago taking in the World's Fair, etc. He is the son of Frank Allman, well known in Elks' bowling circles. . . . Patrolman Henry Lahr and family postcard from the White Mountains of New Hampshire where they are vacationing after a trip through New York state during which Lake George, Lake Placid, and Ausable Chasm were visited. . . .

Editor Tall Tower Topics: Can you prevail upon the powers that be down at the Connecticut Company office to have their work car pick a different time to descend upon Willow street other than the hours when most people are sleeping. For the last week or so the car has been working at various places up and down the hill all night long; that is, from midnight to 5 a. m. One night it was right in front of our house. Another night it was in front of a relative's of mine. We like our sleep to be undisturbed. Can you help us out? Anxious. . . . (I'll print your letter, Anxious, if that will do any good. Why not a personal appeal to the company officials. They're usually willing to cooperate. — The Ed.)

Idle gossip. . . . Captain "Tom" Horrigan and Lieutenant "Hubie" Rigney were decorated during the course of the Governor's Day exercises at Camp Cross, Niantic, Sunday. Both guardsmen received 15-year service medals. A couple of good soldiers their comrades know them as. . . . Jake and Louie Rieger are back from the World's Fair. They stopped off at Cincinnati on the way home to see the Reds play Brooklyn and had a reunion with Jake Flowers of the Dodgers' nine, an old Washington College chum. Then they called up Jimmie Dodds and Joe Alexander, both Waterburians and Washington College grads, now in the showbusiness in Cincinnati, and was there a fanning bee. And was the topic the old eastern shore of Maryland? . . . Tony Pepe is home after a flying trip to South Bend, Indiana, on business. It took Tony just one week from Wednesday to Wednesday to complete it. . . . Alfred Emanuel Sullivan (he was named after Alfred Emanuel Smith), son of Waterville's foremost pinocle player, the well known Dan Sullivan, has recovered from a recent illness.

Radio shorts. . . . Eddie Cantor's return to the air is scheduled for September 10. If his movie is not completed by then, he will probably go on the air from Los Angeles for his Sunday evening broadcast with Rubinoff. . . . Bert Lahr, doing some good work in Cantor's place now, is expected to join up with George Olsen in a new commercial about October 4. . . . Red-headed, blue-eyed Peggy Healy, the tiny Irish lass from Paterson, N. J., who is the sweetheart of Paul Whiteman's troupe of musicians, celebrates her first anniversary with the orchestra early in August. She won her place in an audition contest put on by Paul, competing with 178 others. She is only 19 years old. . . . Of special interest to the ladies — Phil Harris is 5 feet, 11 1/2 inches tall, weighs 168 pounds, and has brown hair. He is a fiend for polo and has horses in Los Angeles. His favorite dish is macaroni and cheese, except for a late snack, when he attacks the fragrant Hamburger. . . .

Pot Pourri. . . . Georgie Howe is on a diet. . . . The genial milkman had seven teeth yanked this week. . . . Bill Stanton who calls balls and strikes in the City Baseball League, is contemplating a trip to the Century of Progress within the fortnight. . . . Helen Murphy left today for a week's vacation at Lake Waramaug. . . . When it comes to showing results after a fishing trip Gene and Jim Montanari, Mahlon Sears and Fred Peterson, prominent Red Men of Naugatuck, can do just that. The outcome of two recent visits to Candlewood Lake in quest of white and yellow perch and bullheads resulted with the limit being secured upon each expedition. One hundred and twenty fish weighing 60 pounds were in the cache. . . . John Kelly, Jr., underwent the heavy smell this week and bid bye-bye to his tonsils. . . . Frederick Dowling, Jr. of New York, is visiting relatives in this city. . . . Mrs. John Clifford and granddaughter, Miss Nancy McCarthy are spending their vacations with relatives in New York City. . . .

DRAMATIC AND OTHERWISE: They do say as how "Design For Living" in the talking picture version will not have one scrap of the original dialogue so smartly tossed about by the Alfred Lunts and Noel Coward, but the essence of the piece remains; in other words it will be the same only different. . . . "The Song of Songs" with several notables including Lionel Atwill, Brian Aherne (recent Robert Browning to Katherine Cornell's Elizabeth Barrett), Alison Skipworth, and last but not least Marlene Dietrich, gets some favorable, some not so much so, comment from the reviewers who opine that Miss Dietrich does considerable fine work; reviewers also state that there is no appreciable similarity or familiarity between the screen version and the original story or dramatic version. . . . Frances Starr of the legitimate "Rose of the Rancho," "The Easiest Way," and so on, is scheduled for one of the summer companies at Hempstead in "When Ladies Meet," no doubt playing the Spring Byington (stage) and Alice Brady (screen) role. . . . "Music in the Air" will continue its merry, lyrical way in New York until September. . . . Ethel Barrymore is doing J. M. Barrie's "The Twelve Pound Look" at the Capitol in New York, this being one of the dramatist's famous one-act or curtain raiser plays. . . . The role of Laurie in "Little Women" (screen) will be taken by Douglas Montgomery, his first screen work in some time. . . . Quite continentalish will be the innovation at the Lewisohn Stadium in New York with beer on sale between concertos, sonatas and what not, during the Philharmonic Symphony programs.

Block dances are going to be revived in the city. . . . Yes, sir. . . . Fuller street playground supervisors will sponsor the first of this season and the first in many a year to-morrow night. Early this summer it was thought that perhaps the Mutual Aid band concerts at Library park might be a good opportunity to start the old street dances, but evidently the plan petered out. Incidentally the coming block dance will be enlivened by some solo work by Michael O'Reilly who promises a few jigs and Irish reels that only the old timers remember. . . .
